MAJOR ACTIVITIES SUMMARY — FY 1994

With a budget authorization of $1,690,000, the National Council on Disability (NCD) began Fiscal Year (FY) 1994 with a wide variety of activities in an effort to provide the President and the Congress with recommendations on how to increase the inclusion, independence, and empowerment of all Americans with disabilities.

The activities of NCD in FY 1994 included gathering information about the implementation, effectiveness, and impact of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Public Law 101-336, a law that was initially proposed by NCD. NCD continued its monitoring of ADA's implementation through active communication with consumers. NCD also identified the overall needs and concerns of individuals with disabilities by conducting town meetings and forums throughout the country, and by responding to thousands of telephone and written inquiries on the ADA and other issues.

NCD's other highlights for FY 1994 were five town meetings conducted on how to make health care reform work for people with disabilities. The recommendations were released in a major report titled *Making Health Care Reform Work for Americans with Disabilities. Summary Information on Five "Town Meetings" on Health Care Reform: A Report to the President and the Congress of the United States.

In addition, the U.S. Senate confirmed Marca Bristo of Chicago, Illinois, as chairperson of NCD, Bonnie O'Day of Boston, Massachusetts, and Kate Pew Wolters of Grand Rapids, Michigan, as members. Larry Brown, Jr., of Potomac, Maryland, was renominated by the President and reconfirmed by the Senate.

ADA SUMMIT

February 10, 1994

COMMUNICATION WITH THE HEALTH CARE FINANCING ADMINISTRATION

July 25, 1994

Synopsis

NCD responded to a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking issued by the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), requesting that a proposed rule governing the reimbursement for medical rehabilitation services required by people with disabilities be withdrawn and rewritten in a manner that insures that placement decisions are made in the best interests of people with disabilities and others in need of extended home- and community-based supports. HCFA subsequently withdrew the proposed rule.

ADA ANNIVERSARY

July 27, 1994, Washington, D.C.

Synopsis

NCD celebrated the fourth anniversary of the ADA on the South Lawn of the White House, as a crowd of 3,000 listened to President Bill Clinton discuss empowerment and health care reform. NCD chairperson Marca Bristo was on the platform with the President, the First Lady, the Vice President and Mrs. Gore, Cabinet members, Members of Congress, and other disability advocates. At the conclusion of the celebration, the President accepted a copy of the Council's report, *Making Health Care Reform Work for Americans with Disabilities. #### COMMUNICATION WITH THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

August 8, 1994

Synopsis

In a response to the Secretary of Transportation, NCD chairperson Marca Bristo requested that the U.S. Department of Transportation ensure that a proposed rule governing the accessibility of over-the-road buses be written in such a way as to contain the findings of a congressionally mandated study completed by the Office of Technology Assessment, which states that over-the-road buses should be accessible via lift or another level-change device.

MICROSOFT CORPORATION MEETING

August 22, 1994, Seattle, Washington

Synopsis

NCD members and staff initiated a meeting between representatives of the disability community and Microsoft Corporation officials, to discuss access to Windows-based software for people with disabilities, especially people with severe visual impairments.

ADA WATCH ROUNDTABLE

August 23, 1994, Seattle, Washington

Synopsis

NCD conducted an ADA Watch Roundtable as part of its congressionally mandated commitment to monitor the implementation of the ADA. The purpose of the one-day event in Seattle, Washington, was to bring together disability leaders and advocates to discuss ADA implementation efforts at the local level. Federal, State, and local officials participated in the discussions. A report titled The Americans with Disabilities Act: Ensuring Equal Access to the American Dream was released on January 26, 1995.

RESEARCH

In its efforts to provide quality research in areas of interest to people with disabilities, and in response to its congressional mandate, NCD continued work on its study of inclusionary education, conducted a series of five field hearings on health care reform, and initiated research on the application of the ADA for persons with cognitive impairments. NCD also began planning a series of field hearings on the implementation of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and, through its contract with the Beach Center on Families and Disability, commissioned the production of 27 papers written by nationally preeminent researchers and teacher/trainers on the reauthorization of IDEA.

In addition, under its new leadership, the Council has gone through the process of recommending and adopting new strategic priorities. NCD has also contracted with the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR) to initiate work in three new priority areas: ensuring access to the information superhighway for Americans with disabilities; ascertaining the status of federally assisted or sponsored policies and practices targeted to increase the participation of people with disabilities from diverse backgrounds in community service and educational programs; and promoting the role of the United States in advancing the status of people with disabilities on an international basis.

EDUCATION

The Council continued its research in the practices of States in educating students with disabilities. As a followup to its 1989 study, The Education of Students with Disabilities: Where Do We Stand?, and its 1993 study, Serving the Nation's Students with Disabilities: Progress and Prospects, the Council supported Education Development Center, Inc. of Newton, Massachusetts, in producing A System Apart: A Study of the Least Restrictive Environment Provisions of IDEA in Massachusetts and Illinois. This work, done in partnership with the Pathways Awareness Foundation of Chicago, Illinois, will be reinforced by the soon-to-be released publication of a companion study on educational inclusion, titled Inclusionary Education for Students with Disabilities: Keeping the Promise, during FY 1995. In addition, the Council organized 10 one-day field hearings to gather information and recommendations from consumers on the implementation of IDEA, the Federal legislation that supports the vast majority of special education programs across the nation. The report on these hearings is currently being edited.

HEALTH CARE REFORM

As part of its research agenda, NCD continued its work in the field of health care. Its report, Making Health Care Reform Work for Americans with Disabilities, was released in FY 1994, as a followup to its 1993 study, Sharing the Risk and Ensuring Independence: A Disability Perspective on Access to Health Insurance and Health-Related Services. In the 1994 report, the Council identified the health care priorities of Americans with disabilities.

INTERNATIONAL

In 1993, at the request of the Administration, NCD served as part of the United States delegation to the Commission for Social Development of the United Nations in Vienna. The Council's report, Progress in Advancing the Status of People with Disabilities Around the World: The Work of the United States Delegation to the Thirty-Third Session of the Commission for Social Development of the United Nations, detailed the work conducted at that meeting by John A. Gannon, acting chairperson; Edward P. Burke, acting executive director; and other members of the delegation.

The most significant outcome of this work was that the Commission for Social Development voted to approve the first-ever United States-sponsored resolution on disability policy. This resolution, titled The Positive and Full Inclusion of Persons with Disabilities in All Aspects of Society and the Leadership Role of the United States Therein, embodies the spirit of the landmark ADA and sets a new and higher standard for the status of people with disabilities in societies all around the world.

On December 20, 1993, the Council's efforts were rewarded when this resolution and the Standard Rules on the Equalization of Opportunities for Persons with Disabilities were adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations.

In addition, NCD worked with the U.S. Department of State to include people with disabilities in the World Summit for Social Development and the upcoming Fourth World Conference on Women.

CONGRESSIONAL TESTIMONY

LIAISON WITH THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON DISABILITY AND REHABILITATION RESEARCH (NIDRR)

NCD held regular meetings with the director and the staff of NIDRR to discuss ways to improve research concerning people with disabilities and the methods of collecting and disseminating the findings of such research.

In addition, NCD made recommendations to NIDRR on issues of public policy that affect the wide range of people with disabilities, including individuals of different ages, conditions, perceived employment potentials, economic needs, specific functional abilities, and other individual circumstances.

INFORMATION DISSEMINATION

Throughout the fiscal year, NCD received thousands of telephone calls and letters from concerned individuals and organizations about disability issues. The Council's outreach to persons with disabilities and their families, the Administration, the Congress, and the public continued to grow. The Council continued to disseminate important disability-related information through its FOCUS newsletter, special reports, annual reports, and ongoing interaction with the news media.

QUARTERLY MEETINGS OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL

CONSUMERS SERVED AND CURRENT ACTIVITIES

While many government agencies deal with issues and programs affecting people with disabilities, NCD is the only Federal agency charged with addressing, analyzing, and making recommendations on issues of public policy that affect people with disabilities regardless of age, disability type, perceived employment potential, economic need, specific functional ability, status as a veteran, or other individual circumstance. NCD recognizes its unique opportunity to facilitate independent living, community integration, and employment opportunities for people with disabilities by ensuring an informed and coordinated approach to addressing the concerns of persons with disabilities and eliminating barriers to their active participation in community and family life.

NCD plays a major role in developing disability policy in America. In fact, it was the Council that originally proposed what eventually became the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Our present list of key issues includes personal assistance services, health care reform, the inclusion of students with disabilities in high-quality programs in typical neighborhood schools, equal employment opportunity, community housing, monitoring the implementation of the Americans with Disabilities Act, improving assistive technology, and ensuring that persons with disabilities who are members of minority groups fully participate in society.

STATUTORY HISTORY

NCD was initially established in 1978 as an advisory board within the Department of Education (Public Law 95-602). The Rehabilitation Act Amendments of 1984 (Public Law 98-221) transformed NCD into an independent agency.
